

Now your child has a diagnosis of autism...

What can you expect from an educational setting?

- That they follow the advice and guidance available in the Cumbria SEND Handbook or professionals as appropriate;
- To set up a good communication method with you to make sure that information is shared;
- That they identify your child or young person's strengths as well as the their areas of need;
- Involve you as a family to review and support the achievement of targets in the educational setting and at home;
- They may undertake the CCC Autism Awareness training;
- That your child or young person continues to be part of the whole class grouping when and where appropriate;
- That adaptations where appropriate e.g. a quiet area/work station/'time out' space are made.

What it does not mean....

- That your child will automatically need or be entitled to 1 to 1 support from an adult;
- That your child will automatically be entitled to an Education, Health and Care Plan (EHCP);
- That your child will have to move educational setting.
